OPENING GUN FIRED BY CHAMBER IN ANNEXATION

Attempt to Incorporate New Section

Chamber of Commerce Takes Straw Vote of The Richmond Annex

VOTE TO DECIDE POLICY

Assessed Valuation Of Property Involved Is $500,000

Firing the opening gun in the annexation skirmish the Richmond Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon sent out straw votes to the 206 voters in the Richmond Annex. These votes to be returned at once, ask the residents of the district if they want to join the city of Richmond.

The Richmond Annex contains approximately 100 city blocks and has an estimated population of between 500 and 1000. The assessed valuation of property in that section is about $500,000.

This move on the part of the chambers annexation committee consisting of Fred Newsom, M. A. Hays and A. P. Hill is seen by many as the beginning of a fight for unincorporated territory adjoining Richmond and El Cerrito that may have far reaching effects.

Thursday night the city of El Cerrito had a meeting at the city hall called by Mayor George Conlon at which D. Bryde and H. B. Hollenbaugh of Richmond Annex and Mrs. George W. Adams of El Cerrito were named as a committee to study the feasibility of annexing the Annex to El Cerrito.

Not satisfied with that El Cerrito threatens to take in the Mira Vista part of Richmond and parts of Stege. Those backing the annexation of Mira Vista to Richmond are chuckling up their sleeves at this suggestion and although no statements are forthcoming it is generally understood that they are merely awaiting the "building" of a few additional votes in the Mira Vista section before the Richmond business men of that district will be voting in the same city from which they receive fire and police protection as well as many other advantages.

That the fight is in earnest is indicated by the following letter, which was sent out yesterday by H. A. Johnston, president of the Richmond (Continued on Page 8)

CITY'S RETURN FOR INVESTMENT AT WHARF SMALL

Richmond Terminal Corporation Paid City Only $216.50 In Five Years

THIRD INSTALLMENT

For the use of the municipal wharf No. 1 and wharf shed, and equipment for the past five years and over, the Richmond Terminal Corporation has paid the City of Richmond the magnificent sum of $216.50. These figures are correct as they were kindly furnished by city manager J. A. McVittie, at the request of the Record-Herald.

The City of Richmond has close to a million dollars invested in the property, and the return, for a monopolistic privilege that the Terminal Corporation has been enjoying, is certainly a most profitable one.

The Terminal Corporation loads goods from cars to the wharf, stacks it, and afterwards conveys it to the ships. At this point the stevedoring companies take hold and load the ships.

About the only interest the city has in the wharf at the present time is in storing goods, for whatever length of time, they may be left there. If goods are in the warehouse less than 15 days no warehouse charge is made, but for a longer period charges are collected. The Terminal Corporation has the entire handling of the goods, until they are placed at the shipside, and also takes charge of them when they are landed on the dock from the ship.

To do this work the Terminal Corporation makes a certain charge a ton, and if the goods are permitted (Continued on Page 8)

Cleopatra Didn't Have Anything to Compare With This

Hardly had the echoes of the famous Moose debate: Resolved: "That women's dresses should be shorter" died down when Al Abraham appeared on the scene and scores another one for victorious affirmative side. Abraham says that he has one of the best illustrations in the world substantiating the argument. Shades of Cleopatra were flitting around the windows of The Fashion yesterday afternoon, where the cause of all this outburst were reposing in the show window. Abraham brought them from a safe deposit box under the watchful eye of a detective, for display in his window. They are to be there for a limited time.

MISSING GIRL AGAIN ELUDES POLICE POSSES

Sighting Of Wagner Girl With Male Companion Canceled Abduction Theory

EUREKA, Oct. 16.—Authorities believe that Carmen Wagner, 18, Fernside beauty parlor operator, and a mysterious man companion, slipped through their fingers, on the highway, just below the Mendocino county line today.

The search started when Miss Wagner disappeared after the murdering of her companion, Henry Sweet of Ferndale, on a hunting trip last Sunday. It was first believed that the girl had been kidnapped by the slayer of Sweet. The search was further prompted by the discovery that Sweet had been shot from ambush and that the girl had been seen with a male companion Thursday.

Constable E. Parker of Gabeville, reported to the sheriff's office that he had halted a couple on the highway when it was seen the girl's description corresponded with that of Miss Wagner. The girl told him, he reported, that they had a "marriage license" and were walking from Ferndale to Watsonville. They said they had shipped their goods in advance.

While posses continued to search the wild mountain regions of Humboldt county, investigation of Miss Wagner's room disclosed that they had been ransacked and a quantity of belongings removed.

President to Call Another Peace Meet

Signing of Rhineland Pact Considered a Good Omen

WASHINGTON TO BE SCENE

Considered Most Significant Since The Famous Dawes Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Another international disarmament conference in Washington loomed tonight. President Coolidge believes that the signing of the Rhineland security pact by the Allies and Germany at least partially paves the way for the calling of another conference to bring about world peace.

The President is said to regard the signing of the pact as the most important thing that has come up to secure world peace since the Dawes Plan.

The foundation for what Foreign Minister Aristide Briand called the "United States of Europe" was laid at Locarno at 7:30 this evening with the completion of the ceremonies of initiating the security pact drafted by the foreign ministers of the allies and Germany.

Four pacts in all were signed by the seven foreign ministers, who have been in session in Locarno since October 5. These were the Rhineland security arrangement, and arbitration agreements between Germany and France, between Germany and Poland, and between Germany and Czechoslovakia.

MAN HELD FOR BANK ROBBERY

MARTINEZ, Oct. 16.—After confessing to officers that he was one of the bandits who held up and robbed the Hellman bank in Los Angeles last August, Francis Metevier, 23, turned around today and told authorities that the story was "bunk" that he told it only to get a free ride back to Los Angeles. He arrived in Crockett Wednesday in search of work and not finding it devised this scheme to get back to the southern part of the state. A wire from Los Angeles, however, indicated that Metevier answers the description of one of the bandits.

Last night surrendering himself to authorities, Metevier, confessed that he was one of the four bandits who held up the bank in Los Angeles, killed an officer, wounded another and then attempted their get-away. The driver of the bandit car was killed and another injured. Metevier and one companion escaped, leaving behind a $38,000 loot.

He told officers that he was in the army during the war and was decorated by the French government and was cited for bravery in the Argonne battle. Metevier said that he was "broke" and could not find work since he had been discharged from the army. He first thought of robbing the bank when the subject was broached to him by the other bandits, he stated.

"OUR NEWSPAPER"

This expression, "our newspaper," is familiar. We hear it from the lips of town and country folk on all manner of occasions and by all manner of people. "Our newspaper told about it." "Our newspaper would like to publish it," and the greatest light that comes o'er the fact of "a pilgrim and a stranger," when he come across the old home paper at some newsstand.

The "our" part of it strikes me as proprietorship; a patriotism akin to "my country." Without trying to run it, we all enjoy it and speak of the home paper as "our paper."

Our federated clubs and our churches, our schools and our lodges would miss it almost as much as we would the absence of a dear relative. The commercial side of the town would be almost paralyzed without this medium of conveying the good news of a new shipment from New York of St. Louis.

I have visited a town or two which has lost their paper—it seemed like a cemetery. Some of us study these things; pick up your local paper of ads. We at once get the "number" of a town. Many a town is down in the dumps and wonders how other towns get this, that and the other things while they do without. The lack of patronage of the home paper is the reason. Many an investor-to-be passes up a town when he notes the advertising is meager.

Strange, it always seemed to me, to take federated club announcements all the year to "our paper" and mail-order for the printing of annual programs. Let "our paper" carry all school announcements all nine months—athletics, literary activities, lyceum courses; then send out to some commercial printer in some city for the "annual." Many a merchant might open his eyes and see how business forms and blanks could be printed at home or ordered by the editor as the print merchant.

After all is said and done, all experts have studied long and hard on these things pertaining to advertising; it is the consensus of opinion that the home newspaper is the best advertising medium in the world. Ere a national firm sends a field force out into a new territory they use the local press for six months or a year just talking about "Soapade" or something else. Then, as the salesman calls, Mrs. Brown says, "Oh yes, I've read about it in our paper."

Mail order houses would fade away if more brains were mixed up with local firms in an enterprising way in "our newspaper."—Rantoul, Illinois, Weekly Press.

AUTOMOBILES AND SAVINGS

That theory that much buying of automobiles has made the American people less provident is not sustained by the facts, albeit a good many people have believed it. However, the truth is that whatever else, good and bad, the automobile can be blamed for, it is not true that much buying of cars has made the American people less provident. Official figures show that in the period from 1915 to 1924 car registrations increased from 2,445,666 to 17,605,501. During this same period savings were doubled, and while in 1915 there were 16,084,587 depositors, who averaged $88 each, in 1924 there were 38,867,994 depositors who averaged $136 each.

Another of life's strange compensations. After those American aviators had been sickened by trying to eat "canned Willie," they drifted to safety in Mimilili bay.

Things might be worse. Suppose Mr. Ford had gone in for the quantity production of popular-priced saxophones?—Columbia Record.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Boleros May Be Jackets or Merely an Effective Trimming.

ONE of the newer of the influential French dressmakers hit upon the idea of making bolero coats for her evening frocks this autumn. But these are real bolero coats, not boleros in effect only, as it quite often the case. With the bolero on, a frock becomes quite suitable and comfortable for restaurant or theatre. Taken off it is most appropriate for dancing or other general evening wear when a thinner frock is required.

Usually of course the bolero of the season is something that is part and parcel of the gown or coat to which it belongs. In short it is merely a "bolero effect." Sometimes the suggestion is only slight. The sketch shows a frock of which this is true. It is a blue reps trimmed with green buttons. Sometimes, as here, the bolero is suggested only at the front. Sometimes it is suggested only at the back. This is the case in a certain smart little frock seen among Premet's autumn things. Then too the bolero appears to have been put on in conventional manner with the opening in the front, and sometimes it is put on with the opening at the back, giving a plain unbroken line across the front. Germaine of Paris is the author of a clever little frock of beige satin, with plain short skirt, long close-fitting sleeves and a bodice that appears to be formed by a bolero jacket put on backwards. The opening comes at the back. Beneath the bolero there is a wide belt of deep tan velvet fastened at the front with metal buckles and there is a high crush collar of this same velvet.

The bolero is a fashion that is usually looked upon as especially suitable to the very young woman. But it really is a device that may be most flattering to older women. The broad-shouldered, wide-hipped, yet angular woman—who is so plentifully represented in this country—has never appeared at her best until she has worn a frock with an honest and truly bolero, or with what is often just as interesting—a "bolero effect."

WISE AND OTHERWISE

HOME-MADE FUR

THE ingenious home dressmaker knows she can make almost everything at home, but it probably hasn't occurred to her that she can make fur. Yet this can actually be done. That is, she can make clipped wool trimming that takes the place of fur on collars and cuffs and along the hems of frocks and coats. This clipped wool is used by some of the smartest of dressmakers, not as a substitute for fur, but as something very charming and smart in itself. And it is an excellent and inexpensive substitute for real peltry.

To make a collar, cuff or banding of any sort you will need book muslin or canvas, a wool needle and the desired wool. Cut out a pattern of cuffs, collars or border of just the size you need plus an inch and a half all around to be turned in later on. That is, if you wanted a border five inches when finished you should allow canvas eight inches wide to begin with, marking off with a pencil a line an inch and a half from each edge. If you want a collar or cuffs mark on the canvas just the size you want when finished and then allow your inch and a half. One expert says that you can make a very nice collar of a straight piece that is, when finished, twenty-one inches long by five in width. This will require a piece of canvas twenty-four inches long by eight in width. The cuffs when finished may be a foot long by four and a half in width. This means canvas fifteen inches long by seven and a half in width.

You proceed by threading your wool needle with a long piece of wool. Having run in your thread at one end you begin by making a sort of back-stitch. Every stitch a loop is left of a definite length, from half an inch to two inches. These loops are worked in rows along the canvas until it is all covered save for the edge allowed for turning it. Two meshes of the canvas are left between every two rows of the loops. When the piece is done you should brush the back with some sort of liquid gum. This dries, leaving the stitches secure. The inch and a half allowance on the edges should then be tacked down, and last of all the loops evenly cut and trimmed. Your clipped wool or "fur" is then done.

"BUDDY"

This word, meaning friend or pal, originated in the Gypsy dialect and came into general use in the mining districts of England. In Gypsy a "buddy pal" is a fellow workman. When a miner contracted to mine a certain amount of coal he took with him a "buddy" or as it was pronounced "butty" to help him. Thus they spoke of "the miner and his 'butty,'" meaning the miner and his partner or companion.

"THE WIFE WHO WASN'T WANTED" with Irene Rich is a pictureization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

John Mannering, district attorney, finds his wife, Eileen, in the apartment of Jerome Wallace, his opponent in the political race until his withdrawal that very night. He curses both and storms out. Eileen, in desperation, enters a taxi and bids the operator "Drive, drive, drive." "It leaves her at the hotel in a suburban town, where she is recognized by Diane Bledsoe, who was with young Bob Mannering the night their automobile struck and killed a woman.

CHAPTER XII—Continued

And, what was more, now as Eileen, left finally alone, sank wearily down upon the edge of the bed, to fall back across it completely exhausted, Diane was still sending her horse thundering along the wooded road which led to her father's beautiful lodge and applying whip and spur, as if pursued by some invisible fiend incarnate.

Reaching the lodge she dismounted and tossing the reins of her foaming steed to an astonished groom rushed straight upstairs to her own bedroom. There, as if yet followed by this invisible terror, she burst into tears and pacing up and down the room, fell to wringing her hands. Amidst every luxury that money could buy this pampered child of the rich seemed the picture of misery and woe.

Soon growing somewhat calmer, she turned to her desk and after studying a moment her fingers felt that his action was based on the fact that Mrs. Mannering was found in a notorious roadhouse during a raid last night.

Bledsoe read and having inwardly digested it all raised his eyes from the paper and sniffed.

"Wallace is a smart man, a damned smart man, Mr. Bledsoe. They don't come any smarter."

"Humph!" muttered Bledsoe in tones which might have daunted a less satisfied heart.

"You've got a good eye, Mr. Bledsoe," continued Slick, as if he had suddenly set up as an oculist.

"You picked a winner and he gave you a good run for your money."

Mr. Bledsoe looked doubtful. Indeed, there was a vague something about him which might have led one to suspect that personally he was of the opinion that he had backed an also ran in this race of Slick's imagination.

But so filled with pride and contentment was Slick that he never noticed this.

"You couldn't beat it—no, not in a thousand years—that little scheme of Wallace's to get Mannering out of office. It worked—I'll say it worked," chuckled Slick, and his manner said plainly: "Why shouldn't it work, I helped to do it?"

But in the face of all this enthusiasm Bledsoe remained strangely cold. Now he shot a keen glance at the speaker.

"What did Wallace have to do with it?"

"Do with it?" Slick drew himself up with pride, even if his grammar did lapse sadly. "Me an' him did it. Yes, sir, you've got nobody to—er—thank but me an' Wallace for that smooth little trick."

"Trick?" Bledsoe looked surprised, more than surprised, but no flood of gratitude burst from his lips.

"This—you two did this thing?" he said slowly, indicating the newspaper.

"We did it. If you don't believe me look here." With a knowing wink he produced the signed statement for the possession of which Eileen had struggled in vain. "This is what took her to the roadhouse—to get it. She was so crazy to help her kid that she didn't have any more sense than a jaybird."

"How did you get the paper?"

"H—ll, I kept it. What do you suppose? I just kidded her along. You know my way. It was like taking milk from a baby."

"And the raid?" said Bledsoe softly.

"Framed—everything pulled on like clockwork."

"And do you mean to tell me that you two so managed that thing that Mannering has no idea why his wife went to that roadhouse?"

"Sure," said Slick, drawing himself up proudly and fairly beaming on Bledsoe. "That's the best part of the whole business. Mannering's got it in his head that his wife double-crossed him because she was in love with Wallace."

His face purple with rage Bledsoe leaped to his feet.

"Why, you scoundrel! You d—d dirty, sneaking pair of skunks!" he bellowed and turned towards the door.

Shocked beyond belief, Slick sat there when he had gone. In the moment of victory had come defeat. Slowly he straightened himself, and he might have been a wounded soldier raising himself upon his elbow to gaze at a conquered field in search of succor.

"D—n," whispered Slick, so low that it might have been the soft sigh of a summer's zephyr. "D—n the luck to h—ll!"

Then he slowly hitched himself towards the telephone. In the hour of defeat that indomitable spirit was uplifting him. That masterly brain was evolving some new strategical move as the smoke of battle cleared. It was not to Wallace he called. Standing upon his own feet in more ways than one, he called the railroad station.

"Say," said Slick hurriedly, "serve me a lower for San Francisco tonight!"

CHAPTER XIII

John Mannering entered the jail to walk slowly along the corridor and pause by the jailer.

"I want," he said with an effort, "I want to see my son."

Resolved: "Women's skirts are too long" was the topic of a heated debate held by the Richmond lodge of Moose, after the lodge session in Moose Hall Thursday night. After long argument in which both sides of the question were discussed from every angle, Charles F. Donnelly, honorable judge, decided, after dividing for a time in higher mathematics that the affirmative had won the debate by eighty per cent.

The winners were represented by E. Forwick, A. Alger, A. P. Davis and J. S. McGinnis, while the negative was upheld by W. W. Scott, W. Nicholson, E. Brennan and William Vossbeck.

At the lodge session the house committee reported progress on the plans and specifications for the new Moose home at Tenth and Macdonald. All necessary papers have been signed and the work is ready to go ahead.

The entertainment committee will resume its activities after the summer period on next Thursday night. The members have had long to contemplate the program, so an interesting session is anticipated.

"A Good Swap"

Years ago this was a much more common expression than now, although it is, of course, still used to a greater or lesser extent in different localities. Money was not so freely circulated then and folks were more prone to "swap", exchanging something they had for something they wanted and the smartest and best informed fellow made the best "swap" and benefited accordingly. Nowadays money is freely used, and through advertising mediums, you are able to keep yourself well informed on values. Your local merchant helps to keep you informed about the current market prices, and you should patronize and encourage him whenever possible. When you have to shop out of town do so with these Shopping News merchants and you will find that every buy made will turn out to be "A GOOD SWAP." You will always receive full value for your money.

SAINTS-BEARS PREPARED FOR TODAY'S CLASH

Three disturbances of more or less tremendous importance in coast conference football circles will present themselves for occurrence today, to wit: St. Mary's vs California at Berkeley; Stanford vs University of Southern California, Los Angeles; and Idaho vs Washington state at Pullman.

The predictions of the St. Mary's-Bear game vary to a great extent. Some say the Phoenix will triumph by a slight margin. Others declare that California will do the same thing. Still others give the Golden Bear credit for being able to win by a score as high as 30 points.

Slip Madigan of the Saints declared himself yesterday as being satisfied. When a coach of football is satisfied there is sure to be a triumph or something up his sleeve that will be sprung at the last moment. Madigan has one man on the sick list and a wise smile on his face.

On the other hand, Andy Smith feels that the Bear will go out with blood in its eye and just show how big a score can be run up. The final, dashing half and captain, will be in at least part of the game, it was definitely announced last night. This is expected to give added strength to the wonderful machine that fell before the Olympians last Saturday after five seasons of successive wins.

Other games today will be: Pacific vs Oregon University at Eugene; Whitman vs O. C. A. at Corvallis, Ore.

Senior Girls Win Numerals

The right to obtain numerals was won by the Senior girls of Richmond Union high school when they defeated the juniors in captain basketball by a score of 16 to 10. The game was fast and hard fought, the juniors holding their opponents for the first half and for most of the second.

The girls getting their numerals are:

High Seniors—25.
Margaret Lee, Rose Turkovitch, Nellie Noonan, Nellie Coward, Katherine Kenney, Lenora Smith, Evelyn Kalin, Beatrice Strommer, Jolanda Sassone, Isabel Myatt.

Low Seniors—26.
Katherine Shodorass, Lena Ceridoni, Gwendolyn Pierce, Edith Hunt, Laura Smith, Francis Ross, Dorothy Clow.

The girls playing on the squad, who have already received their numerals are:

Margaret Wright, Lucille Muth, Frances Dahlen, Katherine Smith, Rita Maschio, Alice Bagley, Amanda Zundell.

Neptunes Play Sons on Sunday

The champions and the runners-up in last year's soccer league will meet next Sunday in Berkeley at 2:30 o'clock. The Champion Neptunes will play the Sons of St. George. Both teams are undefeated this year so a great game is looked for. The Sons' team follows: Cox, Livingston and Craig, backs; Miller, Davidson, McGrath, half backs; Williams, Grant, Orr, Martin and Russell, forwards.

Gonzaga vs Montana at Missoula, Olympic club vs Santa Clara at San Jose.

MIDGETS WIN FROM MARIN COUNTY TEAM

Mt. Tamalpais may be the most imposing mountain in these parts, but the 130-pound team of the high school, bearing the name of the hill in Marin county, did not impose very much on Coach Ivan Hill's Midgets, when they came to Richmond yesterday. After Richmond had given the Tam boys a few demonstrations of how the game should be played both on the defensive and the offensive, Mt. Tamalpais went home defeated 13 to 0.

Arnold, dashing left half of the Richmond Midgets, made both touchdowns. One was a straight line back in the first quarter and the other was a reverse play in the third. The first attempt to convert failed but on the second try a pass from Cecil to Hanrahan did the work.

Hill gave all of his aggregation a chance to do their stuff. The boys did some good work and kept the ball out of their own territory most of the time. When by some chance it did get in Richmond's territory, it was kept so far from the goal that there was no chance whatever to score.

Following is Hill's lineup: Ogden, left end; Johnson, left tackle; Swen, son, left guard; Hoesen, center; Zeln, right guard; Armstrong, right tackle; Hanrahan, right end; Cecil, quarter; Sakai, right half; Arnold, left half; and Nicholson, full.

Substitutes were: Constine, Broberg, Engelman, De Moss, Siegel, Gordon, Ogden.

REPORT GIVEN ON SOCIAL BY COMMITTEES

The committee is headed by E. C. Marshall, building material dealer, and Robert Bush, Richmond Navigation company. They will be assisted by E. H. Higgins, of E. H. Higgins and Company; C. J. Lambrecht, building material; L. B. Kirby, H. Cowell Lime and Cement company; Robert Dornan, Richmond Supply company; Frank Anseze, cement contractor; S. C. AN ILL WIND OR RAIN
Football players and fans cast their eyes on the skies last night and prayed that June P. would hold his peace for today at least. Duck hunters did some praying to, but just the opposite from the gridders. Rain will make the ducks fly low, a good thing as they have been flying higher than the proverbial kite since the season opened. All due to the lack of rain. There are thousands of birds, but they have been far out of reach.

to remain in the warehouse long enough, a charge for warehousing is made by the City.

All of the means by which the Terminal corporation does this work is furnished by the City of Richmond. What the City of Richmond collects for warehousing, per ton, and what the Terminal corporation collects per ton for handling the goods, will be taken up and handled in a future article.

It is pertinent to state at this time that in 1924 the charges collected by the Terminal corporation are said to be over double those collected by the City of Richmond.

The only expense, apparently, of the Terminal corporation is a labor one, while the City of Richmond has a large sum of money invested in the property, keeps a harbor manager and assistants, and also has employed at a salary of $200.00 per month, what is termed "an outside man" who is supposed to devote his entire time in San Francisco and other points, securing business for Richmond's municipal wharf.

As near as can be ascertained, under the present arrangement, over ten per cent of the freight handled over the municipal wharf the Terminal corporation collects $3.00 for every $10.00 collected by the City of Richmond.

The relation of the "outside man" to the Richmond Terminal corporation will be considered at a later date.

Now for the detailed statement of what the City of Richmond has received from the Richmond Terminal corporation. The agreement that was in force for five years, provided that settlements must be made with the city auditor on the first Monday of every month.

Here is the statement in detail:

WHARF NO. 1—Equipment rentals paid by the Richmond Terminal Corporation.

Date Pd. Amt. Pd.
1919—August 12: For the use of freight handling equipment at Richmond Municipal Wharf No. 1 for the month of July 1919.

Electric Crane, 11 hrs. $22.50
Electric Trucks, 60 hrs. at $1.00 $60.00

Sept. 23: For the use of freight handling equipment at Richmond Municipal Wharf No. 1, for the month of August, 1919.

Electric Trucks, 3 hrs. at $1.00 $3.00
Electric Lights for month of July, 1919 $57

Electric Lights for the month of August, 1919 $50

Dec. 12: For use of Electric Trucks for the month of October, 1919, 26 hrs. at $1.00 $26.00

ROTARY CLUB HAS PROGRAM

An amusing program was given by the Rotary club yesterday at the First Christian church, laughter being the main feature of the program. City Manager J. A. McVittie won first place in the story telling contest and Scott McRacken won second place. Joseph Burdon, Richard Slattery, W. F. Fraser, Otto Ludewig and W. J. Richards also took part in the contest, which was judged by Seward Merry and H. A. Johnston. "Why Mexican Hairless Dogs Have Fleas" narrated by J. N. Long brought forth many of the required laughs. The songs were led by Fred E. LaMoine. Fire Chief Cooper recited the crowd with a poetical recitation. George Rooker's declamation was voted a huge success. The old fashioned spelling match was tied by Attorney T. H. Delany and Harley Carter's Teams.

Attempt To Incorporate New Section

Chamber of Commerce to the voters in the Richmond Annex.

"During the last year there has been, among the citizens of Richmond Annex and among the citizens and business men of Richmond, considerable discussion of the proposition that Richmond Annex become a part of the City of Richmond.

The Richmond Chamber of Commerce is interested in discovering the opinion on this subject among the people of the Richmond Annex and we have taken a straw vote as the easiest method of finding out how the people of the Annex feel.

"This vote obligates you to nothing; it merely indicates for our guidance what you as a citizen of Richmond Annex feel about the matter of annexation to Richmond.

MUTUAL ADVANTAGES.
"The Richmond Chamber of Commerce favors annexation as a move which will serve the best interests of Richmond Annex, and of the City of Richmond. We feel that Richmond Annex logically belongs within the corporate limits of Richmond, all the waterfront adjacent to your community is now within the limits of Richmond and in many respects our interests are common.

"From your point of view annexation would have many advantages. 1. Fire and police protection. The Richmond fire department won fourth place among Pacific Coast cities for effectiveness and efficiency in fire fighting and fire prevention in a contest among 95 cities, which closed last month, after running for a year. Our police department would also be extended to your community and give you what you now lack entirely—adequate protection to your life and property.

"2. Streets, parks and playgrounds. The responsibility for keeping your streets in repair now rests solely upon the property owners. If you were a part of Richmond this responsibility would be shifted to the city administration. You now have no means of providing parks and playgrounds for your children and for the recreation of your people.

If a part of Richmond, our remarkable system of parks and playgrounds, now being worked out, would be extended to serve you.

"3. Similarly the lighting of your streets is a matter that you cannot adequately provide for, and which would automatically become a responsibility of the city if you were a part of Richmond.

"4. Taxation. If incorporated with Richmond your people would never have to carry any of the tax burdens for the present bonded indebtedness of Richmond. This debt was incurred to build harbor facilities, parks and playgrounds, a municipal bath house and other public conveniences and facilities which you would be privileged to enjoy, but whose cost you would never be required to help pay. In this respect your people would have a direct distinct advantage over the people who now live in Richmond.

"5. Community cooperation with a larger city here whose limits embrace all territory logically a part of Richmond we shall be able to proceed with general plans for community development. It is certain that if we pull together we shall all travel faster than we can, if we travel alone.

"It is logically, and in our opinion best for both of us, that you join with Richmond.

"We want you with us, to help us. In the job that is ahead of us. It will be of the greatest benefit to all of us and there is no sound

WINTERS BALL ROOM ENGAGES NEW ORCHESTRA

The Savannah Seven, a red hot jazz dance orchestra from the south will furnish the music for the dance at Winters ball room tonight. Leonard Hickson, one of the best trumpet players known, will be the featured artist of the organization. The management is sparing no expense in an endeavor to give the patrons the best music available and an effort is being made to include Winters hall in a circuit of bay city dance hall to use different orchestras of the highest calibre each week. There are twenty bands being organized and Richmond is to be represented with an orchestra to play the proposed dance hall circuit.

The lunches served in the balcony by H. L. Pitchett, are proving a great success and one of the things that Richmond has needed for some time, a place to dine and dance and spend a delightful evening.

The management is planning a carnival night for the dance to be held October 24.

The Savannah Seven will furnish music for the Wednesday dances as well.

argument against this merging and pooling of our interests.

"By cooperating under one municipality the west end of Contra Costa county will be able in the next quarter century to accomplish results which will make the record of the last 25 years look insignificant.

Yours for progress.
